Review by Isabella (7 years old): this book is a great child's book. it would be fun to give your child for a present for it's birthday or christmas or Graduation Day. Or just a stop at the bookstore and purchase it. And this book is like all the other magic tree house books. Like it has mazes and word searches from each story like sunset of the sabretooth or polar bears past bed time. And sometimes they have stuff like $y=t$ and $h=0$ and that is crazy man!! and I mean crazy city!!! Parental comment: At first I thought this was a $$ making gimmick. But I do like the concept. That being, games and puzzles that are related to the many different adventures that have transpired over all these years/books. That provides a vehicle of review in those subjects. Renewed interest in a certain field. And a fun way of learning about history. . . . A thick book with ALOT of learning activities. It has kept our children's interest for many hours.

My 7 year-old grandson loves the Magic Tree House books and loves puzzles. Some of the puzzles are still a bit beyond his abilities, but there's enough in this to keep him happily occupied and challenged, especially in the car. He'll save the book so he can complete the ones he's not quite ready for yet - when he is ready.

This is a great book for all ages. My 6 yr. old had a alot of fun doing some of the activities. Other activites were too old for a 6 yr. old. I highly recommed this book.

My son gave it 3 stars because he said that it wasn't really that much fun and all you do is Mazes!!

I bought this for my 6 year old who has read most of the Magic Tree House books and he loved it. The book is divided into sections based on books 1-44 and includes up to 5 puzzles and games for each book. There are word scrambles, crosswords, word finds, mazes, connect the dots, places to illustrate and many more. The solutions are included in the back. I highly recommend this for any Magic Tree House fan!

This is a good book of puzzles. On top of the page, you will find the book that the puzzles coordinate with. There are mazes, word searches, and other puzzles that my 6 year old daughter enjoyed very much.

After completing the fiction series, this kept showing up in the passport on magictreehouse.com. Since it's a puzzle book, it's not available at the library or used. A nice summer activity to end the series.

We have been reading through the magic tree house books for a few months and we were so excited to find a fun activity book to go with the stories. My son is almost 6 and he loves it! He especially loves the mazes. There are some activities that he is too young to understand but he still really enjoys it. Great purchase!
