This was a fun project to do. If the directions are followed exactly, it's not to difficult, however I think it might be more difficult for children. It's a great way to build interest in this period in history. It could be used as a springboard towards research about this historical time period. I also have put together the town. It was quite a bit easier and also a lot of fun. I'm hoping to be able to do the castle & village next.

This was a great project for my son and I. He was in middle school. It is time consuming though cutting out all of the pieces. I enjoyed seeing it all finished and learning about cathedrals back in time.

Fun to make
